

State Authorization and The University of Alabama Capstone College of Nursing

A university that offers distance/online education must comply with the laws of its home state as well as the laws of any host state where educational experiences are offered. In addition, schools of nursing must comply with the host state's board of nursing rules and regulations in order for its nursing students to engage in distance/online educational experiences. While state higher education requirements and boards of nursing rules and regulations vary greatly between states, the University of Alabama is pursuing state authorization and boards of nursing approvals in most states. In many cases, these processes can be very lengthy.

Currently, the Capstone College of Nursing (CCN) offers distance/online education for students pursuing degrees in the following programs: RN to BSN, MSN (with specializations in Case Management and Clinical Nurse Leader), DNP, and EdD (with specialization in Nurse Educator). Applicants must reside and be licensed in one of the state listed below. Students who are admitted must complete clinical experiences only in approved state(s) in which they are licensed. Students are required to notify the CCN of any change of residence.
